Noujaim Informs Community of Scovill Cleanup Activity

Potentially contaminated barrels will be removed from the site on Thursday

State Rep. Selim Noujaim, R-Waterbury, said workers will be removing 30 drums of potentially hazardous material beginning Thursday morning from the Calabrese portion of the Scovill Landfill Superfund site on Store

Avenue.

Rep. Noujaim said, “This is a very important project. Contaminated drums have been on the site on Store Avenue for many years. Contractors for the federal Environmental Protection Agency will be removing these barrels throughout the day on Thursday.”

Rep. Noujaim said he wanted to be sure that neighbors are aware of the activity and are informed about the purpose. He has been instrumental in working with EPA since last year in having the barrels removed.

As part of EPA investigation of the site, it was determined that the drums have stored waste water, some soil cleaned from a drilling rig during soil sampling as well as disposable gloves and overalls.

During the Thursday activity, Rep. Noujaim said, workers may be wearing protective clothing and respirators solely as a precaution against inhaling dust particulates. Throughout the day, EPA contractors will be loading drums onto a truck and hauling them to a licensed facility in Stoughton, MA.

Rep. Noujaim said EPA expects to continue site investigation work this coming summer and will hold a public meeting to discuss investigation results. Rep. Noujaim has been working with former Waterbury Alderman Dennis Odle on making sure the drums are removed.

Rep. Noujaim serves the 74th Assembly District in the state House of Representatives.
